

Dear Parents and Carers,

October has arrived! This week, Class 1 have been busy working hard and sorting in their maths lessons. Class 2 are enjoying reading together the book called Empires End, A Roman Story, in their whole class reading lessons. Earlier in the week, they reached a tense moment - Mrs Cotton was on the edge of her seat as to what will happen next! The School Council members have chosen a selection of PE equipment to add to play times and all the children are enjoying playing with these.

Thank you for your uniform responses to the uniform survey. I will respond to your comments next week.

Next week is British Dyslexia Awareness Week which is marked by many schools all over the country. Mr Spencer will be leading an assembly to introduce on Monday. On Wednesday, we will be having No Pens Day! This really is no writing day - a day to encourage the power of talk during all lessons.

Wishing you a lovely weekend.

Best wishes,

Mrs Pipe, Executive Headteacher
