NEWSLETTER 28.02.2025

Dear Parents and Carers,

It has been a lovely start to the second spring term. We've begun by introducing our new value (respect) and have spent some time not only considering what this means but thinking carefully about how we can show it. We will continue exploring this as the term progresses.

We have also started our new geography topics in Class 1 and 2 this week, and the children have been buzzing with excitement as they talk to me about their learning - wonderful!

On Thursday Class 2 started their basketball lessons and were awesome in their control and loved the challenges set and Class 1 focused on target throwing and played some fun running games with Mr Jones.

I've attached this month's computing online newsletter - it's full of information about Artificial Intelligence. This has certainly begun to infiltrate our world in many ways, and I'm constantly being reminded of this just by watching the television and even picking up my phone - so it's important we are all as informed as we can be about it.

Information about how to sign up for parents evening will follow next week. The date for this is Wednesday 12th March. The sessions will be held after school. We hope to see as many of you as possible.

Don't forget World Book Day is on Thursday 6th March and we are celebrating with the theme of 'hats!' I can't wait to see what the children wear. We're also hosting 'Books and Biscuits' from 8.35 to 9.15- so you are welcome to join your child in their classroom and spend some time reading with them.

I hope you all have a lovely weekend. I hear the weather is supposed to stay dry - let's hope so!

With warm regards,

Mrs Cummings
Head of School

Please could parents label their child's School jumper with their child's name. This would be very helpful. Thank you
